We could be better set up for the lectures, especially if we are going to continue to offer virtual. We might consider hanging some of the small microphones from the ceiling like I have seen in several churches for their choirs. Also, invest in a better camera that could be set up in a different location which would allow the freedom of movement by the presenter.

I find my work engaging.

Again, I think there has been more tension and stress this year. But overall I agree with this.

My co-workers are willing to assist each other.
